

Abstract

The invention relates to a starter generator for an internal combustion engine having a rotor and a stator, whose structural elements substantially comprise stacked, joined- together metal sheets.

5

(Fig. 1)